The Capitol Unit is a faith-based prison ministry that provides hope and support to inmates facing the challenges of incarceration and re-entry. Founded in 1974, the Capitol Unit has been a beacon of light for thousands of inmates, offering them a chance to rebuild their lives and find a new path.

The Power of Faith

At the heart of the Capitol Unit's work is the belief that faith can transform lives. For many inmates, the experience of incarceration can be a time of great darkness and despair. The Capitol Unit provides a place where inmates can find hope and meaning amidst the challenges they face.

The Capitol Unit offers a variety of programs and services that are designed to meet the needs of inmates. These programs include Bible studies, counseling, and life skills training. The Capitol Unit also provides inmates with opportunities to worship and to participate in other faith-based activities.

The impact of the Capitol Unit's work is evident in the lives of the inmates who have participated in its programs. Many inmates have found faith and hope through the Capitol Unit, and they have gone on to make positive contributions to their communities after their release from prison.

The Importance of Community Support

In addition to the faith-based programs it offers, the Capitol Unit also provides inmates with essential community support. The Capitol Unit has a team of dedicated volunteers who work with inmates to provide them with a variety of services, including:

- Mentoring
- Education
- Job training
- Housing
- Transportation

The Capitol Unit's community support services are essential to helping inmates successfully re-enter society. These services provide inmates with the tools and resources they need to build a new life for themselves.

Second Chances

The Capitol Unit believes that everyone deserves a second chance. The organization is committed to helping inmates turn their lives around and make positive contributions to their communities. The Capitol Unit's programs and services are designed to provide inmates with the tools and support they need to succeed.

The Capitol Unit's work is a powerful testament to the transformative power of faith and community support. Through its programs and services, the Capitol Unit is helping inmates to find hope and healing, and to build a better future for themselves.

The Capitol Unit is a beacon of hope for inmates facing the challenges of incarceration and re-entry. Through its faith-based programs and community support services, the Capitol Unit is helping inmates to find their way back to a life of purpose and meaning.

The Capitol Unit's work is a reminder that everyone deserves a second chance. By providing inmates with the tools and support they need to succeed, the Capitol Unit is helping to create a more just and compassionate society.
